Huskers On 'Road Back'

Sodaks To Offer '52 First Test

Lucky To Win By Point—Glassford

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

The first of ten chapters of that celebrated Nebraska football novel, "The Road Back," will unfold at Memorial Stadium today at 2 o'clock before some 30,000 reviewers.

Partly cloudy skies and a thermometer reading in the high sixties are expected to accompany this 1952 unveiling of the Cornhuskers, almost identically the same squad that slipped into the darkest recesses of some 60 years of football history last fall with a 1-13 record.

Thilled "Operation South Dakota," the chapter presents a duel of infinite mystery and a foe of almost totally unknown quality in the Sodaks.

He won't confess, but Glassford is said to feel his hungry warriors might regard South Dakota as "The Coaches Say . . ."

J. William Glassford, Nebraska: "I consider this our most important game. We will be lucky to win by one touchdown."

Harry Gamage, South Dakota: "We lost a lot of men from our 1951 team. Today's game is anybody's guess."

horns d'oeuvres while admiring the steaks on next Saturday's menu—meaning that game in Portland against highly-regarded Oregon University.

"Most Important" "Right now, South Dakota is our most important game," repeats Glassford in emphatic tones.

All of his prophecies of impending doom, however, have failed to diminish materially the fact that his Huskers rate as four-touchdown favorites.

In defense of South Dakota, a school which refuses to send advance information by train, plane or pony express, about all that is known is that two familiar names will be in the opening lineup.

One is Linebacker Ray Rifenbark, who found Camp Curtis too strenuous while a Husker last year and peddled his wares to South Dakota.

The other is Left Halfback Don Vogt, 215-pound blockbuster who played two games for the Huskers (Texas Christian and Kansas State) before joining the Sodaks.

14 Lettermen Coach Harry Gamage, starting his 14th year at the Sodak helm, has 14 lettermen back, including Tackle Bob Jennings and Center Dick Day, All-Northern Conference forwards.

Nebraska will count on a veteran line, backed by a hard-running and versatile backfield of Quarterback John Bordogna, All-America Bobby Reynolds and Bob Smith at fullback.

Glassford will suit up his entire squad of 53 for Saturday's game, which has been designated as "Dad's Day." Fathers of Nebraska students will be honored at a 11:30 luncheon, sponsored by the Innkeepers' Society. During the game, the football players' dads became members of the Kearney organization in 1926, serving there until 1950. He is a past president of the sons.

Spunky Scribner Lad Back To School Via Telephone

Most 11-year-old boys would welcome a chance to stay away from school with its confining walls and hard seats. Some would for any reason, but not Leroy Hasemann.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hasemann of Scribner, young Leroy has every reason in the world for showing little interest in school. You see, he's a polio victim who has just ended a nine-month hospital battle.

But a combination of spunk, determination and modern communication methods has made Leroy a full-fledged "school boy" again. Here's the Dodge County boy's story:

Once the ravages of polio had worked its worst, Leroy fought back with the aid of nurses and doctors. First he took simple muscular exercises.

Top Honors Later, after he had regained coordination in his hands and fingers, he learned how to do elaborate bead work, assemble model airplanes and build plastic miniature autos. Leroy was rightfully proud of his work—some of his handicraft was awarded top honors at the Dodge County Fair.

But Leroy wasn't satisfied until

Running Mate Of Eisenhower Promises Public Accounting Of $16,000 Given Him

Tells Oregon Audience Books Are To Be Opened By Trustee

(From Press Dispatches)
ABOARD NIXON SPECIAL—Sen. Richard Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, said Friday night he had ordered the books on his controversial $16,000 expense fund opened for public inspection.

Nixon told a station-platform crowd at Medford, Ore., that he had instructed attorney Dana Smith of Pasadena, trustee of the fund, to give a public accounting of where the money came from and how it was used.

Federal Funds Granted Nixon Top $63,000

WASHINGTON (INS)—A spokesman for Sen. Richard Nixon (R-Calif.) said Friday the senator receives about $65,000 a year in federal funds for the operation of his office, almost all of which is staff payroll.

Nixon's office said that is an accurate figure for the current period and tallies with the last published Senate payroll records, covering part of 1951.

Nixon's office falls in the top bracket of payroll allowances because he represents a state with more than ten million population.

Official records published by Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle show that Nixon's office received a total of $15,831.70 for the April-June quarter of 1951 to cover the pay of 14 office employees. For a full year, this comes to $63,406.80.

In addition to payroll, the government allows each senator and house member $132 for airmail and special delivery postage, $800 for stationery and up to $450 for long-distance telephone calls. He also may use the congressional frank for regular mail.

A senator or congressman receives personal compensation of $15,000 a year. Of this amount $12,500 is salary and $2,500 is a tax-free personal expense allowance.

He said the California senator told Seaton he has asked the trustee of the expense fund, Pasadena attorney Dana Smith, to make a "full report" to the public on the contributions.

Nixon said Smith will "issue a complete accounting of the fund and its uses."

Disclosure Thursday of Nixon's acceptance of the money to help pay his senatorial expenses brought reports from Eisenhower advisers that the matter was considered so serious Nixon might even be asked to resign as the GOP vice-presidential candidate.

Republican national chairman Arthur Summerfield told a reporter late Friday, however, that no one had made such a suggestion to him and, as far as he knew, there had been no discussion with Eisenhower of such a possibility.

Nixon's message to Eisenhower declared:

"The facts will show that public-spirited citizens who contributed to this fund ask nothing of me nor did they receive anything from me in any way of special favors, consideration or treatment."

He added:

"The facts will show that not one red cent was spent by me for my personal use. The facts will make it crystal clear that such a legitimate political fund originated in an earnest and unselfish desire on the part of the contributors to support my fight against Communism and corruption in government."

Earlier Eisenhower had said: "I believe Dick Nixon to be a honest man. I am confident that he will place all the facts before the American people fairly and squarely."

Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee declared Eisenhower faces the problem of casting away "either his principles or his running mate."

"Condemnations without all the evidence, a practice all too familiar to us, would be wrong."

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) told a newspaper here that he sees "no reason why senators or congressmen should not accept gifts" from their constituents "to help pay even personal expenses in Washington."

Taft made the statement in a telephone interview with Ralph Holsinger, staff writer of the Dayton Journal Herald, in reference to the disclosure that Sen. Richard Nixon accepted $16,000 from California businessmen to meet some of his senatorial expenses during the past two years.

Taft declared:

"The only possible criticism would rise if these donors ask for or receive legislative or other favors. I know that no such motive inspired the expense payment in the case of Dick Nixon."

"Those who contributed to the fund probably agreed 100 per cent with his legislative position anyway."

The Ohio senator said he believed it proper for members of the Congress to accept gifts to help defray costs of "political and travel expenses which are not paid by the government."

Nixon, making a fighting tour of the Pacific Coast, told whistle-stop crowds in Northern California and Southern Oregon that the disclosure of his receipt of private financial aid in running his senatorial office was a "Communist smear."

Earlier, in Kansas City, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had said Nixon had promised him to make a full public accounting of the $16,000 in "expense" funds given him by a group of Californians.

The Republican presidential candidate made the statement after Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska, one of the general's top political advisers, talked via long distance telephone with Nixon regarding the widely-criticized acceptance of the funds.

Eisenhower expressed confidence that when the full facts are known "they will show that Dick Nixon would not compromise with what is right."

In a prepared statement given newsmen, after the Seaton-Nixon talk, Eisenhower declared:

"Both he (Nixon) and I believe in a single standard of morality in public life."

He said the California senator told Seaton he has asked the trustee of the expense fund, Pasadena attorney Dana Smith, to make a "full report" to the public on the contributions.

Pro-Eisenhower Papers Among Critics Of Nixon

NEW YORK (INS)—The Pro-Eisenhower New York Herald-Tribune called Friday night on Sen. Richard Nixon to make a formal offer to withdraw from the Republican ticket.

Let General Judge—Trib The Tribune declared in a lead editorial:

"There is no question but that the financial arrangements by which the Republican vice-presidential nominee furthered his work were ill-advised. . . .

The proper course for Senator Nixon in the circumstances is to make a formal offer of withdrawal from the ticket. How this offer is acted on will be determined by an appraisal of all the facts in the light of General Eisenhower's unsurpassed fairness of mind."

NEW YORK (INS)—The New York Times said in an editorial Friday night that Republican leaders must decide immediately whether GOP

Times Also Finds Fault Richard Nixon has "impaired fatally his usefulness as a candidate."

The Times, which has come out for Gen. Eisenhower, charged that Nixon has "shown poor judgment" in accepting funds for expenses in connection with his Senate job.

The editorial conceded that there is "no evidence that any graft of corruption is involved," but it said:

"Mr. Nixon should realize that this practice is not to be condoned on the part of a Republican vice-presidential nominee whose campaign is based in large part on raising the moral level of government."

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Washington Post demanded editorially Friday night that Sen. Richard Nixon of California withdraw as GOP vice presidential candidate.

The Post, which previously endorsed the ticket of Nixon and Gen. Eisenhower, said there is nothing to indicate improper motives in Nixon's acceptance of $16,000 in private gifts.

However, the independent newspaper added:

"But his transgression is a major one, however unconscious of this he may have been, and he

Coal Miners— Hopes Rise For Getting Wage Pact

Agreement Would End
Walkout Due Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports circulated Friday that John L. Lewis and Northern soft coal operators may be close to an agreement that would avert a strike due Monday.

None of the reports could be confirmed, but they came from well qualified industry and government sources close to the situation.

The only word on the record that the threatened walkout may be averted came from Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, who told a reporter:

"I am keeping informed as much as possible and I am hopeful a settlement will be worked out."

Up until Friday the prospects for any peaceful settlement had seemed quite bleak.

The gist of the reports from industry and government sources was that President Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Harry Moses, negotiator for the Northern mines, were now getting close on money matters.

"I hear they're getting pretty close," one prominent industry official told a reporter. He did not want his name mentioned.

An agreement, it was said, might be in the neighborhood of $1.80 daily wage boost for the miners, plus a 10-cent-a-ton increase in the 30-cent royalty now paid by mine owners into the miners' welfare fund.

Polio Count Definitely On Decline Here

The polio death of Mrs. Gordon Carlson, 22, of Stromsburg, an hour after she entered a Lincoln hospital Friday afternoon, marked an otherwise hopeful report on the evident decline of the dread disease in Lancaster County and adjoining areas.

Mrs. Carlson died of the fatal bulbar type of polio.

Otherwise, Morris Siegel, county polio chairman, reported that the virus disease was definitely on the decline. Siegel commented that "if this thing is breaking, it would be something we'd all be grateful for."

Only three other cases have been admitted to Lincoln hospitals, which Friday listed six polio patients released to their homes.

The three new cases are: Wanda DeFrait, 21-year-old school teacher, Berne, at Lincoln General; Mrs. Margaret Mueller, 34, Waverly, at St. Elizabeth; and Fred R. Cline, 35, Rt. 8, at Lincoln General.

The county chairman said that for the first time since the serious onset of polio, Orthopedic Hospital has gone 48 hours without admission of a polio patient. Bryan Memorial has not had an admission for 24 hours.

For the first time, patients admitted for polio at the Veterans Hospital have been named and their addresses given. Lincoln residents included are Roberta L. Arend, 28; Milton A. Corwin, 25, and Jack E. Eastburn, 29.

These cases brought the county polio total to 194 cases. Patients at the VA Hospital from out-county are:

Man Pleads Guilty In District Court To Sodomy Charge

Lionel Cutliff, 26, 138 C. Huskerville, pleaded guilty in District Court Friday to a charge of sodomy. Cutliff was the third person arraigned in a morals case which has been described by county officials as "one of the filthiest cases in the history of the county."

District Judge John L. Polk ordered Cutliff held in the County Jail pending investigation by the Adult Probation Officer George H. Meyer. The other two persons, arraigned earlier in the week, are also being held pending the investigation.

Jack H. Arlen, 38, 3914 Vine, manager of a Lincoln drug store, was the first to be arraigned. He pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of obscene photographs with intent to sell or give away. He is divorced and the father of two children.

Lucille Evelyn Williams, 21, unmarried, a waitress, pleaded guilty to sodomy. She and Cutliff admitted to unnatural sex acts at the Arlen home on Aug. 15.

Cutliff is married and the father of three children.

The two posed for the obscene photographs taken by Arlen, according to authorities. Arlen told county authorities that he either sold or gave the pictures to men.

The photographs will be used as evidence in the case when the three come up for sentence sometime next week, according to Chief Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele.

Complaints of neighbors in the vicinity of the Arlen residence at 3914 Vine started the investigation.

A Nebraska state penitentiary inmate, who walked away from a trusty assignment of driving a caterpillar on the prison farm 24 hours earlier, was still at large Friday evening.

A guard first noticed the absence of 31-year-old Gerald William Keller from a dirt-moving detail at 3:45 p.m., Thursday. Penitentiary officials organized a manhunt immediately.

Keller, who entered the penitentiary from Dawson County to serve a two-year term for forgery, had been an inmate for little less than six months.

Originally from Cozad, Keller also served time in the state reformatory for a one-to-five year forgery term. After entering the reformatory in 1941, he was paroled July 9, 1942.

At the time he walked away from the prison farm work detail, Keller was wearing a blue shirt and white trousers, prison uniform, officials said.

They described the escapee as a "husky" man, 5 feet, 10½ inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, having brown eyes and brown hair and a ruddy complexion. Keller has a prominent wart about an inch below his left eye, a noticeably scarred nose and is bald.

Crosby Says Nixon's Taking Funds 'Inexcusable If True'

The Republican candidate for governor of Nebraska Friday labeled as "inexcusable" the action of GOP Vice-Presidential Nominee Richard Nixon in accepting between $16,000 and $17,000 from private sources to defray his office expenses.

Asked his personal reaction to the disclosure, Crosby said: "If it's true, it's inexcusable."

In answer to another question Crosby told the Lincoln Kiwanis Club that he "did not" talk to General Eisenhower about "the Nixon affair" while accompanying the GOP candidate on a portion of his campaign train-stops in southeastern Nebraska Friday morning.

Knew Little
Crosby went on to say that he knew little of the details of the Nixon affair, and had not read the complete newspaper accounts of the matter.

The Kiwanians were told by Crosby that he favored a return to the two-party legislative system in the state "to strengthen the political party systems in Nebraska."

In a question-and-answer period in which Crosby said he hoped Kiwanians would "ask the kind of questions you think would embarrass" a gubernatorial candidate, Crosby was queried on his opinion of a two-house system in the state.

He said he would favor "keeping the one house," but would go back to the political party legislature instead of the present bi-partisan arrangement. He also said he would not recommend the increasing of the number of legislators.

Unimportant Job
"If you would increase the legislators to 100 instead of the present 43, it would become an unimportant job... as the job of serving in the House was quite often considered," he explained.

"Where there is a smaller number, the position has attached more prestige... and would attract men of better quality," he said.

The first question posed to Crosby, hardly before he had announced his speech open for discussion, was, "Do you favor a sales tax, and if not, why not?" Crosby replied, "No. The state government does not need more money unless you're thinking of highway activities, where more funds are definitely needed."

Capacity Crowd
The North Platte man's appearance before the local Kiwanians had been billed as "a red hot political speech," and was attended by a capacity crowd in the Chamber of Commerce's Nebraska Room. The group has invited the Democratic candidate for governor, Walter Raebke, to speak at next week's noon luncheon.

Crosby told the Kiwanians that if elected governor, he would stress the "cabinet system," of administration, calling regular meetings during the week with all department heads in attendance to plan administrative work of the state and improve the efficiency of and economy of state activities.

He also expressed his favoring a replacement tax for the property tax which has become "extremely burdensome," he said, his approval of the State Board of Education, and warned against a possible Highway Commission as a means for a "tug of war" between the commissioners "to see how much" each could get instead of "looking at the state's needs as a whole."

Injured Man Still 'Critical'
A St. Joseph, Mo. man, Harold Washington, was reported still in critical condition Friday in a Lincoln hospital following a car collision Thursday night near Elmwood which killed one woman and injured three men.

Harry H. Davis of West Lafayette, Ind., husband of the dead woman, Karol H. Davis, 22, was reported to be in fair condition. The other occupant of the second car, William Looney, also of St. Joseph, was reported in good condition.

The accident took place on U. S. Highway 34 two and a quarter miles east of Elmwood.

Sherriff Tom Solomon said the man identified as Looney, before losing consciousness, said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and that the car went into the opposite lane of traffic.

Also added to the traffic list Thursday were names of an Omaha man and a Fairmont, Neb. woman. The deaths raised the state toll for the year to 242, 11 more than a year ago.

FHA County Loans Total $28 Million

State Loans Total
Over $206 Million

Loans totalling $28,694,456 have been obtained by Lancaster County residents from the Federal Housing Administration to build, buy or repair homes since 1935, according to Director Holger Holm, Omaha.

Up to Sept. 1st, 14,666 borrowers in the county applied for FHA-insured loans, Holm said. There were 3,671 loans made for individual homes, totalling $22,978,846.

Apartment building loans were valued at $1,748,832 with credit being extended to 228 applicants. Repairs and remodeling loans were made for 10,767 Lancaster residents, valued at $3,966,778.

In statewide volume, mortgage loans on home units amounted to $174,871,605. Not a single FHA home loan in Nebraska is in process of foreclosure at this time, Holm reported, and only 35 borrowers are slightly delinquent in their payments.

Total FHA loans insured in the entire state during the same period total $206,929,733 to 108,000 borrowers. The first $108,000,000 was insured in the first 14 years of FHA operation, the director said.

The next $100,000,000 was insured in the past four years. Loans were insured in every county in the state.

All State Colleges Report Enrollment Increases For '52

Presidents of the state teachers colleges, meeting in Lincoln Friday, all reported increases in attendance this year. A considerable decline was shown in the number of students returning to school due to selective service calls, high wages being paid by industries and marriage.

Those quitting school, they said, total much greater than in previous years. However, they explained, the exceptionally large freshman classes more than made up for those leaving school.

All reported that they are getting a considerable number of veterans of the Korean War and predict they will continue to get added enrollment from this source.

Retired Farmer Is Victim Of Orleans Crash

ORLEANS, Neb. (AP)—Edwin Larson, 63, retired Orleans farmer, was fatally injured Friday night in the collision of his car and a large piece of road surfacing equipment on Highway 3 three miles east of here.

County Attorney D. A. Russell of Alma said Larson had gone around a barricade and was driving east on a stretch of road between Alma and Orleans which had been closed for blacktopping.

Kenneth Stoltenberg, an employee of the Missouri Valley Construction Co., was operating a heavy "laydown" machine which is used to spread the blacktopping, and it was in the same lane of the closed road in which Larson was traveling.

He was taken to an Alma hospital after the accident but died in the hospital. Stoltenberg was unhurt.

Larson was the 244th highway fatality in Nebraska this year. Last year at this time there had been 221 highway deaths.

Morning Worship Services Mark Jewish Rosh Hashana

Morning worship services observing Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year 5713, will be held for Lincoln congregations Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the South Street Temple and from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Tifereth Israel Synagogue.

The traditional Jewish holiday was ushered in Friday night with services at both the Temple and the Synagogue. Marking the beginning of the 5713th year since creation of the world, according to Jewish religious doctrine, the weekend Rosh Hashana services open the 10 days of penitence before the Yom Kippur, Sept. 29 this year, the sacred Day of Atonement.

Rabbi Abba M. Fineberg of the South Street Temple said at the Friday evening service, "We should remember tonight those who built the Temple... the planning of the physical building itself and the hopes for all the functions that will be carried on within."

Rabbi Fineberg's sermon Saturday morning will be on "The Birthday of the World."

Rain Fails To Hamper Stevenson Campaign In East

Claims Taft Calls Tune For GOP

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson in a speech here called the Republicans "grouchy old pessimists" and said they haven't been happy since the days of President William McKinley. And the Democratic presidential nominee banged away again at a favorite theme—that the signals in the campaign of his GOP opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, are being called by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Stevenson drew applause and laughter from a capacity crowd of 5,400 rain-soaked persons in the Municipal Auditorium.

A police-estimated crowd of about 8,000 originally had gathered in front of Springfield's City Hall to hear the Democratic standard bearer.

Uses Rain For Joke

He had been speaking only a minute or so, however, when rain began to fall and he joked.

"The Republicans must have interfered."

A moment later there was a cloudburst and a violent windstorm swept the area. Huddled under a protecting canopy, the Illinois governor asked the crowd to follow him into the adjacent auditorium.

The place was filled in five minutes and Stevenson picked up where he had left off.

"At least I saved you from drowning," the governor joked.

"What I really want to do is to save you from drowning next January."

Proud Of Foreign Policy

He declared:

"If it had not been for the wisdom and courage of our national leadership, Europe might now have fallen to the Communists. If it had not been for the wisdom and courage of our national leadership, Communist aggressors would by now have swallowed Korea and swarmed all over Asia."

On the speakers' platform with the presidential nominee were Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts and U. S. House Majority Leader John W. McCormack and Rep. John F. Kennedy, both of Massachusetts.

Commends Kennedy

Before the rain started, Stevenson told the crowd: "It was Kennedy and Nixon"—Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP vice presidential nominee—"who got the first citation of a Communist for perjury."

When he got into the auditorium, the governor repeated the statement and said he was talking about Harold Christoffel in mentioning the perjury citation.

Nixon, a former member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, won prominence for work in uncovering subversive activities.

Kennedy later told reporters a House Labor Subcommittee of which he was a member in 1947 looked into Christoffel's activities and voted to cite him for perjury.

Christoffel, a labor leader, was a key figure in the earlier lengthy strike at the Allis Chalmers Company in Milwaukee.

DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENTS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Democratic leaders are moving to dampen the Texas revolt against Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Solution For Split

The Stevenson camp has designated House Speaker Sam Rayburn to head the Illinois governor's campaign effort in the Lone Star State.

As Rayburn's influence is great in his home state, campaign strategists hope it will offset the anti-Stevenson feeling raised among Texas Democrats because the nominee opposes state control of the oil-rich tidelands.

Meanwhile Democratic national headquarters reserved comment on the announcement by Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina that he will vote for Republican candidate Eisenhower. Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman, however, minced no words in denouncing the Southerner's action.

Harriman said on a radio program that Byrnes has been "bit-ter" toward President Truman ever since Mr. Truman replaced him as secretary of state and is taking his ire out on Stevenson.

REPUBLICAN DEVELOPMENTS

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, former Democratic Congressman, now registered as a Republican, said here that if Gen. Eisenhower "does not make the public statement that either Nixon resigns or he will, you might just as well park the train and go back to Washington."

Outspoken Telegram

Carpenter's statement was made in a telegram to Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska, who is traveling with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as one of the general's advisers.

"The reaction is beyond words," Carpenter's telegram said. "Gossip is mounting and the facts will be expanded and lies enlarged. Reaction is that if the general cannot clean up his own vice president how can he clean up the government. The issue is not Nixon, but can the American People have confidence in any public official. The general must make the greatest decision of his life now, not tomorrow. This is of course one man's opinion."

Carpenter, a candidate for the Nebraska Unicameral legislature from the 42nd district, was one of the first prominent Nebraskans to come out in support of Eisenhower.

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

This Is No 'Smear'

In these closing September days, Sen. Richard Nixon seems wholly indifferent to possible embarrassment to Gen. Eisenhower and to the Republican party by the revelation that in the last two years, Nixon accepted $16,000 in private funds for travel, printing and clerical help. The Republican vice presidential candidate, insisting that he has done nothing morally wrong, undertakes to laugh it off by calling it "a typical left-wing smear."

We doubt that Sen. Nixon's attitude will register with thoughtful people. If there were any practical way of substituting a vice presidential candidate for Nixon, there should be no delay in accomplishing that fact. Unfortunately there isn't, short of Nixon's own decision to resign from the ticket—and even then, at best that would create a muddle. Sen. Nixon and his friends, including Sen. Mundt of South Dakota, in their anguish can cry that this is a smear and, as Mundt put it, "filthy and beneath contempt."

First, the facts as gleaned from the press dispatches. Nixon, as senator, receives a $12,500 annual salary, a $2,500 expense account, and more than $50,000 a year to run his office and pay staff salaries and expenses. He also enjoys the congressional frank. Now, the man who took the lead, apparently, in raising the fund for Sen. Nixon for Nixon's use in the past two years since his election to the Senate is identified in the press dispatches as Dana C. Smith, wealthy Pasadena, California, tax attorney. Smith said he helped raise the fund because the $2,500 allowed Nixon for expenses by the government was "nothing approaching enough for a senator representing a state as large as California." Of course, $2,500 is not the amount Sen. Nixon has for office expense. For the last two years he has enjoyed an allowance of more than $50,000 a year to run his office and to pay staff salaries and expenses. And some of these smaller, less popular states may not be too much impressed with the excuse that a California senator needs a special kick to carry him over the hump.

Out at Kearney a few days ago, addressing an audience of Nebraskans, Sen. Nixon said that prior to his nomination as running mate for Gen. Eisenhower, he had talked only once to the general. The objective back of this burst of confidence on Nixon's part was not quite clear but apparently he was undertaking to lead those who heard him make that statement to believe that Gen. Eisenhower knew all about him and personally had hand-picked him. That we doubt. In those hectic hours of the Chicago convention, we are inclined to think that Nixon simply was another guy to Eisenhower, a chap with a big build-up. There were reports, subsequently denied, that Nixon even undertook to lead some of the California delegation to Eisenhower on the first ballot, although the popular governor of California, Earl Warren, was a candidate for the nomination himself.

Sen. Nixon says that he sees nothing morally wrong in accepting $16,000 from a small group of men to be used in an extra-curricular sense for postage, the printing of speeches, travel, and extra clerical help. We might wish that his sensibilities were a little more delicate. If, as Smith indicated in a statement to the press, he and 50 to 100 other southern Californians chipped in $16,000 "because we felt that Nixon was an outstanding spokesman in the Senate for the free enterprise system we believe in," it would not seem to be unreasonable to suggest that any other group with set views and large bank rolls could be assured of an articulate spokesman by raising funds to cover the expenses of that spokesman. Included in that group was Smith, a tax attorney. Gen. Eisenhower has been talking about tax matters. How could he be otherwise than embarrassed when it develops that a private fund was raised for his running mate with a tax attorney taking the lead? Among that group were two Los Angeles real estate dealers who may or may not have been against rent controls and other governmental regulations. How can Gen. Eisenhower be otherwise than embarrassed with these boys chipping in for Nixon?

No doubt the money was spent—every penny of it—for the purposes which the donors and Sen. Nixon himself say it was. If that is the case, then should Sen. Nixon have included it in his income tax report? He said that it wasn't income—that it was to cover expenses. But every individual knows that in the instance of deductible expenses, they must be included in an individual's income tax.

It is a little too much to expect Gen. Eisenhower to discuss this matter, mad as he may be, while blasting away at the Democrats. It is unreasonable, we assume, to expect the Republican standard bearer to demand the resignation of his running mate. He is stuck with Nixon, it would seem; and with many millions of Americans, no attempt to make light of the revelations that Nixon got a cozy roll of private funds to carry on the campaign for free enterprise will satisfy those people. It is a mess, a sorry mess, no less disturbing because in the natural order of things and in the event of Republican success, Sen. Nixon is the heir apparent should anything happen to Gen. Eisenhower.

Both Eisenhower and Nixon cry out against deep freezes, mink coats, and other attempts to influence Washington's thinking. There may be a distinction between a deep freeze and a drawing account of $16,000 for travel, postage, clerical help and the printing of speeches, but it calls for some astonishing footwork to make evil of one and virtue of another.

Profit Out Of Garbage

One possible solution of Omaha's garbage problem, it appears, is a demonstration that it can be utilized by an alcohol plant in that city profitably.

That ignores entirely the basic question involved. It is not so important whether somebody or some organization makes a profit out of Omaha's raw garbage. The only issue involved is the handling of the garbage accumulating in a metropolitan city in such a manner as to conform to accepted principles of sanitation and health. If the people of Omaha alone were affected, then we assume that the method of garbage disposal would be their baby.

Unfortunately the plan of dumping it into the Missouri River affects cities and rural areas downstream far more than it does the people of Omaha. These people outside of Omaha's city limits are the ones who would suffer from stream pollution. It is estimated that from 60 to 80 tons of garbage every 24 hours would be dumped into the water to be carried downstream. A brief period possibly raises no serious question of health. But as a permanent program, the communities downstream do have a kick coming.

The problem in Omaha is that Nebraska's largest and most wealthy community has not faced up with the facts of life in solving the problem of garbage disposal.

A Victory For Liberty

The decision of the State Department to grant the right of appeal to persons denied passports is a wise one which should satisfy all friends of individual rights in this country. Too many basic rights, long guaranteed and established both by practice and principle, have been trampled upon in recent years by those who wrap themselves in the American flag and denounce those with whom they disagree.

The new regulations, effective with their announcement, will give an opportunity for a hearing for those individuals refused the privilege of traveling abroad on the grounds of possible subversive activity. It is surely within the province of a government to deny persons the right to leave this country in order to harass

Editorial Of The Day

Beware The Ilk

(From The Chicago Daily News)

With a political campaign under way, we are beginning to hear more of our woodland friend, the prong-horned ilk. We encounter him, for instance, in one syndicated column: "Senator McCarthy, Senator Jenner and other Republicans of their peculiar ilk."

Watchers for the other side will also be spotting ilk, skulking around the fringes of respectability. Alert woodsmen will be describing the antics of "President Truman and his ilk" in their native habitat.

Amateurs seeking information about the ilk encounter difficulty. Webster's New International, for instance, says that use of the Scotch word "ilk" as a noun to mean "of the same breed or class" is a misuse arising from a misunderstanding of the expression "of that ilk."

Fowler in "Modern English Usage" is more specific. He says "ilk means same; it does not mean family or kind or set or name. 'Of that ilk' is a form constructed for the case in which proprietor and property have the same name; the 'Knockwinnocks of that ilk' means the 'Knockwinnocks of Knockwinnock.'

Obviously, he who fools around with the ilk is on dangerous ground. Nevertheless, because politicians rush in where angels fear to tread, we expect to see a lot more ilk-baiting in the days ahead. Despite everything, writers and speakers will try to harness an ilk and use it to carry a sneer to the opposition.

All this is very hard on the ilk. Perhaps in the better days ahead the nation will extend its security blanket to cover them, and the English-speaking peoples will enroll voluntarily in the benevolent and protective order of ilks.

The Wise Frogs

Even the most energetic fisherman who scorns the lazy man plying the rivers and lakes will feel a pang of sympathy for Jim Martin of Wichita, who went fishing in the Walnut River this week. Following the advice of a friend, Jim took along a number of jugs, tied hooks and lines to them, baited the hooks with small live frogs and tossed the jugs into the river. The next day he went back to where he had thrown in the jugs, expecting at least a couple of flat-heads for his trouble. But no fish were to be found.

There, perched high and dry on top of the jugs, were the frogs. Jim Martin is a sadder man, but unquestionably a wiser one.

Stassen Tried To Get AFL Support For Ike

WASHINGTON—Ex-Gov. Harold Stassen is serving as Ike's secret ambassador to labor and did a great job of trying to appease top union leaders before the general's AFL speech—no avail.

Stassen, who also wrote Ike's AFL speech, first had a talk with President Bill Green, urging that the AFL not take a definite stand in favor of Stevenson. Green gave him no encouragement. Stassen also talked to Richard Gray, head of the AFL Building and Construction Trades, who had been a strong Eisenhower supporter but later switched to Stevenson. Likewise he talked several times to George Meany, AFL secretary.

Stassen's first talk with Meany was around Labor Day, at which time the ex-governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, told him in brief:

"The general is thinking very seriously about Taft-Hartley, and it might be he would come out for repeal. If so, of course, it would increase defections from the Taft wing of the party, and we would have to do something to make up for it."

What Stassen wanted was that the AFL either give Ike some tacit support or else hold off endorsing Stevenson. However, Meany made no commitment.

"The general should do what he thinks best, and we should do what we think is best," he said, in brief.

Stassen, however, approached Meany a second time on Sept. 4, again urged that the AFL hold off regarding Stevenson. But Meany refused to trade.

"It's something the general should decide on the merits," he said, "and it's something we also should decide on the merits."

Not satisfied, Stassen came back again. The last time he saw Meany was on Sunday, Sept. 14, one day before the AFL convention was to meet, when he urged that Eisenhower have the privilege of meeting with the executive council of the AFL before he addressed the convention. At this time he would let them look at the text of his address and make any changes before he delivered it to the delegates.

This also was turned down. Meany and other leaders took the position that AFL delegates should be free to discuss and vote their own political ideas without any tacit direction from the executive council.

Any advance perusal or correction of Eisenhower's speech, it was felt, carried implied approval, and might prejudice the freedom of the convention.

Finally Stassen came back with an invitation to the top labor leaders to lunch with Eisenhower after finishing his speech. This, they felt, implied no pledge of support and was accepted.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

THE ears of the Sower have taken a cuffing around the past week that blistered their usual shell pink texture to a weathered brown far deeper than the California desert sun was able to do.

For example, we learned how to make enemies and not influence people. Dale Carnegie could well have profited by the reverse twist.

What caused the temperamental Sower to turn on an otherwise beautiful autumn day was the silver tongues of those wearers of little buttons proclaiming, "I Like Ike."

They succeeded in having parking banned on the north side of the Capitol after 1 p.m., in order that they could organize their caravan to Omaha starting at 5 p.m. The four hours' denial of parking space in an area where parking is already at a premium caused several with official business in the building to roar loud and long.

Past vigilance of city police in issuing "tags" for every minor infraction did not endear the action in behalf of a speech 60 miles away to those forced to hunt for blocks for parking in order to transact business with the state.

THEN, there were those who for weeks have been gazing into a crystal ball trying to prepare budgets of what state needs will be for two years starting next July 1.

"What will be the impact on clerical salaries due to reactivation of the Lincoln air base?" they inquired.

"How do you know what food and clothing costs will be in institutions two years from now?" they asked.

"How can I tell how many will be committed to our institution?" others sought answers followed by another query:

"Why don't you do something about it?"

THE never too modest Sower was forced to admit that the legislature, not he, makes the laws and that we have suggested the possibility of annual sessions for making appropriations.

We turned to Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson for added suggestions and came up with an "iffy" answer.

If the plan of putting all cash receipts in the general fund, as started by the late Sen. John Calhoun, would be adopted, it would hit up each Republican for a Democratic contribution too, arguing that it was safer to place money on both sides. The implication was that if the Democrats remained in power, they might remember the big firms that contributed to the GOP only.

REAL-ESTATE LOBBY
The powerful real-estate lobby, which Washington's Sen. Harry Cain has served so faithfully, is now going to bat to get their friend and servant re-elected. One scheme the real-estate boys have hit upon to fill his campaign chest is the old chain-letter gag, this one asking for one-dollar contributions.

This column has obtained a copy of a confidential letter to apartment operators, outlining the scheme. The letter is signed by Donald Haas and C. A. Nicholson, who run the Apartment Owners' Association in Washington state.

"Sen. Cain has consistently voted against federal rent control, public housing and other controls over real property," the letter points out approvingly. "He is opposed to federal ownership of Tidelands, and a firm opponent of government deficit financing."

"We who believe in the principles of freedom of property rights, operation of the free and private enterprise system and a balanced budget in government, cannot afford to stand by while Sen. Cain is attacked," the letter continues. "A plan has been devised whereby financial support can be given to Sen. Cain's campaign. And all it will cost you is $1.00 plus postage for six letters, plus a few minutes of your time."

The letter then outlines the chain-letter plan, concluding that "a chain of letters sweeping across the country can re-elect our friend."

NOTE—The post office has ruled that chain letters are illegal, though this may not apply if the money is intended as campaign contributions.

KEFAUVER PENALIZED
Sen. Kefauver's former campaign staff has been hit by another casualty. Right after the Chicago convention, two of his boosters—Downey Rice and George Martin—were quietly fired from Sen. Lyndon Johnson's Preparedness Committee. Lyndon has long been jealous of Estes.

Now Kefauver's ex-campaign manager, Gael Sullivan, has lost his job.

He was notified that his contract would not be renewed with the Motion Pictures Association. Knowing this, he beat them to the gun and resigned.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Leaning On The Everlasting Arms

What a fellowship, what a joy divine,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
What a blessedness, what a peace is mine,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Safe and secure from all alarms;
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!

O how sweet to walk in this pilgrim way,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
O how bright the path grows from day to day,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Safe and secure from all alarms;
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!

What have I to dread, what have I to fear,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
I have peace complete with my Lord so near,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Safe and secure from all alarms;
Leaning on Jesus, leaning on Jesus,
Leaning on the Everlasting Arms!

By HORACE B. POWELL

The era of mass evangelism had no more consecrated writer of gospel songs than the Rev. Ellisha A. Hoffman, author of "Leaning On The Everlasting Arms," and other revival favorites. Minister of a Congregational church in Lebanon, Pa., Mr. Hoffman found time to write a long list of hymns and for many of these he composed his own music—tunes which today are still ringing through gospel mission halls of America.

Other popular hymns in the Hoffman list are "Glory To His Name," "Abundantly Able To Save," "I Must Tell Jesus," and the song "I: Your All On The Altar?" with the message:

Would you walk with the Lord in the light of His Word
And have peace and contentment alway?
You must do His sweet will, to be free from all ill,
On your altar your all you must lay.
Is your all on the altar of sacrifice laid?
Your heart does the Spirit control?
You can only be blest, and have peace and sweet rest,
As you yield Him your body and soul.

The People Speak

Champ Or Chump?

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In pursuance of the editorial appearing Sept. 18 in The Lincoln Star ("Convictions Out The Window"), I would add some observations after hearing Sen. Taft speak from Springfield, O.

Sen. Taft probably did not realize when he was lamenting "the good old days" by saying, "Why, when I was young, we didn't have high taxes, etc., etc.," that those very words were and are the terror of his thinking. He is still living in the days of our fathers and the so-called "hard core" that follows him can only prate the same words—liberty, Socialism, liberty and Socialism.

Now, Ike has made his peace with his cult and has most unfortunately embraced their philosophy—or so it seems, anyhow. Looks as if Sen. Taft has taken over the reins.

How humiliating it must be for a sensitive and intelligent man to be forced into a coalition with Taft, when it is well known that the primary reason Ike consented to become a candidate was to insure that Taft and his crowd did not get in the driver's seat. Ike knows there are other areas in the U.S. and the world besides the Republican Middle West which have ideas, too—ideas that are sometimes revolutionary, to be sure—but the restlessness of our age, the demand of minority groups to be heard, even the movement of peoples to Communism, are sign posts of this 20th century that change and revolution are here. We must either give this spirit guidance or we shall go down trying to resist change. You can channel new and revolutionary ideas, but you can't kill them.

Ike knows this. Now, this great man who was the hope, no doubt, of millions of Americans as well as other millions in the world, has taken on the maledictions of the Tafts, McCarthys, Jenners, Dirksens, McCormicks and Vivien Kelmans, to name only a few.

Ike, who have many of us in a dilemma as great as your own. It isn't too late to break away and come up swinging for those extra bases you were sent to bat for. The people want you to be their champ, not Taft's chump.

J. C. C.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: While Dwight Eisenhower never surrendered a soldier on any battlefield away from home, he has been forced to surrender his brave crusaders on the political home front. The mutinous Sen. Bob Taft carries his seven-page "articles of surrender." The halo which once shone above his head is gone. Nobody knows what those surrender terms are. Perhaps they never will know, but Bob Taft comes into his own at last. He becomes the "supreme commander." Long ago it was written that: "The first shall become last and the last shall become first." And there is your Chicago convention.

The man so idolized one day becomes a second-trading fiddler the next. In stern reality, this fact is not disconcerting. The political shlylocks down Texas way started the crusader's ship to list when they enticed Eisenhower to burn his fingers with Tidelands oil. It listed further when Ike threw his saddle blanket over McCarthy and Jenner, two outstanding agents of political "polecatism" whose slimy smear of Gen. Marshall stands out like a sore thumb.

And a great fear spread throughout the land of Crusaderdom, as well as in the land of the great GOP. The Eisenhower ship was going down. A newly-charted course might bring the ship safely through. There were vested interests to be saved. Bob Taft could save them—save them from a two-front attack. He held control of one of them, with the parchments in his pockets. And so Eisenhower signed them. Taft is now in command; Eisenhower, second mate.

fiddled while Rome burned, and now apparently we need five to seven million dollars for water—which we thought we had in our own abundance—to extinguish our own burning fires. And Mr. Erickson fiddled until he and the City Council found a totally unwarranted and inexcusable attack upon the state's public power system expedient and necessary. What a weak alibi!

And after many years, this growing and progressive city may get some sort of an auditorium. BRUTUS HISTORICUS

Kasson Speeches

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Just what would the Republicans do to the farm price support program developed over the past 20 years by the Democratic party if that party should lose the election in November? This question is being discussed in farm circles following the Eisenhower speech at the national plowing contest in Kasson, Minn.

The general's speech confounded many persons who have followed Republican agricultural policies in Congress. Gov. Adlai Stevenson's address at Kasson stated clearly and unequivocally the Democratic position on farm policy. He declared that the Democratic party would continue and further improve the farm price parity program and other agricultural policies worked out since 1932.

Ike Whistlestops Through State On 'Throw The Rascals Out' Theme

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

AUBURN, Neb. — Presidential hopeful Dwight D. Eisenhower stopped here for 15 minutes as he went whistlestopping through southeastern Nebraska Friday.

The stop was typical of several he made in the morning. On the receiving end was a color guard, about 2,000 noisy, quiet, respectful and just curious Nebraskans. On the giving end, wearing a gray suit and a familiar grin, was the general.

The Auburn High School Band greeted the 18-car campaign train. And to these martial strains Eisenhower responded with a theme as familiar now as his grin — "Throw the rascals out."

Starting off with the Korean War, the general charged that the present administration "has let us fumble along in the dark."

Then he went on to blame the government for (1) spending practices which have created a deficit and lowered the value of the dollar, (2) "venal practices" in various departments of the government and (3) "absorbing the power of the states."

Much of this, he said, has resulted from the fact that the Democrats have been in power "too long."

He went on:

"The whole issue is this. Are we going to return to more good Americanism, or are we going on down the road to centralization?"

He closed by informing his listeners that this issue will be settled in November. Applause was not heavy.

When Eisenhower had finished the crowd chanted, "We want Mamie." Ike ducked back into the car for a moment and then reappeared to announce that his wife, Mamie, "said she just wasn't fit to come out."

When the train pulled out, Ike waved and the crowd broke up quietly.

The Auburn stop was preceded by stops at Plattsmouth and Nebraska City and followed by one more Nebraska stop at Falls City.

Eisenhower was traveling to Kansas City after a major appearance in Omaha Thursday night.

Although Auburn's crowd missed seeing Mamie, the general's wife dutifully made an appearance at Falls City, where estimates on the crowd ran as high as 8,000. Mamie, in fact, was presented with flowers. Eisenhower received a bowl of fruit.

At Nebraska City, Neb., where a crowd of several hundred persons turned out, Eisenhower said he believed the Truman administration has "lost prestige for us abroad."

He called for a "top to bottom" clean-out of officials in Washington. He said anything less would not be satisfactory.

"We have to get rid of people who regard public office as an opportunity to enrich or aggrandize themselves," he declared.

The Nixon incident was not mentioned in the general's rear platform remarks in Nebraska City.

At his first stop at Plattsmouth, about 500 persons gathered around the rear platform of the train to hear a brief talk by the general.

Appearing on the platform with him beside his wife, Mamie, were Roman Hruska, 2nd district GOP candidate for Congress; Dwight Griswold, Scottsbluff, candidate for the U. S. Senate, short term; Sen. Hugh Butler, who seeks reelection, and Robert Crosby, North Platte, GOP candidate for governor.

The Plattsmouth high school band, spotted at the rear of the train, waited patiently for a chance to play for the general. As the train pulled out after its brief stop, the general shouted that he was disappointed at not being able to hear the band.

As the train approached Union, Neb., it slowed down but did not stop. About 100 persons stood along the tracks for a glimpse of the general.

'Machine Bosses Really Behind Stevenson'—Ike

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower said here that Adlai Stevenson is a candidate of the "machine bosses" who will try to win the presidency for him "by whatever means" in the November election.

In the harshest indictment of the campaign the GOP presidential nominee declared "the bosses" delivered the vote and "sewed up the nomination for Stevenson."

"I sympathize with the nominee of the Democratic party because of the company he is obliged to keep," Eisenhower said.

Also, he accused the Truman administration of permitting the bosses to move "their kind" into federal jobs to "practice on the national level the vicious morals of boss politics."

Thousands Line Route

The speech was prepared for delivery at a Municipal Auditorium rally. The general arrived here to be greeted by 4,000 persons at the railway station. Another crowd estimated by police at 35,000 to 40,000 lined parade route to his hotel.

The blistering Eisenhower attack came after he had voiced faith in the honesty of Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, under fire from the Democrats for having accepted expense money from wealthy California business men.

But in his defense of Nixon, Eisenhower also made it clear he wants to hear a full explanation from Nixon of the situation which threatens to become perhaps a critical issue in the campaign.

Eisenhower suggested that Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee was "blocked" out of Democratic nomination by "the city bosses" whom he said had "delivered the votes" for Stevenson's nomination.

Admits Tie One-Sided

"Perhaps he (Stevenson) may disown that company altogether."

This is the pay-off question: Will the bosses disown him?

Eisenhower said the "bosses" are smart enough to know Stevenson "is not one of their own kind."

Leveling an attack at what he called corruption in Washington, the GOP nominee declared that:

"These disclosures of graft, dishonesty, and inefficiency in high and low offices are merely the symptoms of a morbid disease within."

He said before there could be any "cure" it would be necessary to find out "how was it possible that such men as these were given high offices of public trust?"

Rips Into Inflation

Eisenhower said that inflation "is another very shaky part of the record of this administration." He said wage increases had been wiped out by price rises adding:

"I do not believe that the candidate of the Democratic party will get very far on that record of treadmill prosperity."

Promising to lay the Democratic record before the country, Eisenhower said he is sure Stevenson will "run on that record because he will not be allowed to run away from it."

The Republican nominee attacked what he said was the administration's "stop and go, zig, zag, and zig" foreign policy.

"The Republican party believes that we can have lasting peace in the world," he declared.

"It proposes that we work out and adhere to an immediate and long range program for peace that will be clear and positive to which all America and peace-loving people will rally."

Judgment Of $2,635 Sought By Petition

Bernard F. Heelan filed a petition in District Court Friday asking a judgment of $2,635.97 from H. H. McDevitt.

The petition alleges that while McDevitt was employed as a salesman for the Cudahy Packing Company he sold goods at less than the authorized prices and gave receipts marked paid in full for the listed prices.

The Underwriters of Lloyd's of London, the petition charges, paid the meat packing company for their losses.

The insurance company, in turn, has sold the right to recover the $2,635.97 damages by process of law to Heelan.

51 Additional Cases Of Polio Reported

The state health department Friday received reports of 51 additional cases of polio in the state. They explained, however, that many of these are delayed reports from doctors who did not report all of their July and August cases.

With adjustments made in the total for the year to date due to cases having been originally reported as polio being improperly diagnosed, the department has a total of 1,430 cases reported.

Douglas county led in the number of cases reported with 16 and Gage reported 11. Scotts Bluff reported three cases and Polk, Thurston, Wayne and York two each.

Counties reporting but a single case were: Antelope, Boyd, Buffalo, Cedar, Clay, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge, Kearney, Nemaha, Phelps, Platte and Richardson.

Truman Truell Better

Truman Truell, former Star staff member who has polio, has been transferred from Douglas County hospital to Clarkson hospital in Omaha, where his condition is reported as "favorable."

Truell had previously been listed as in "poor" condition at County hospital.

'52 Season Worst Ever For Nebraska Hay Fever Victims

OMAHA (AP)—This probably has been the worst hay fever season Nebraska ever has had, allergists here declare.

"Conditions have been 'ideal' for hay fever," said one.

"There's been a lot of rain, and bumper crops of corn and hay. The same conditions that produce good corn produce good weeds."

The sniffing season for hay fever victims normally ends around the middle of October.

Pollen villains at the moment are marsh elder, cocklebur, western water hemp, Russian thistle, Kochia and the three varieties of ragweed.

Griffith Murder Trial Opening Next Week

Sidney Man Charged In Wife's Death

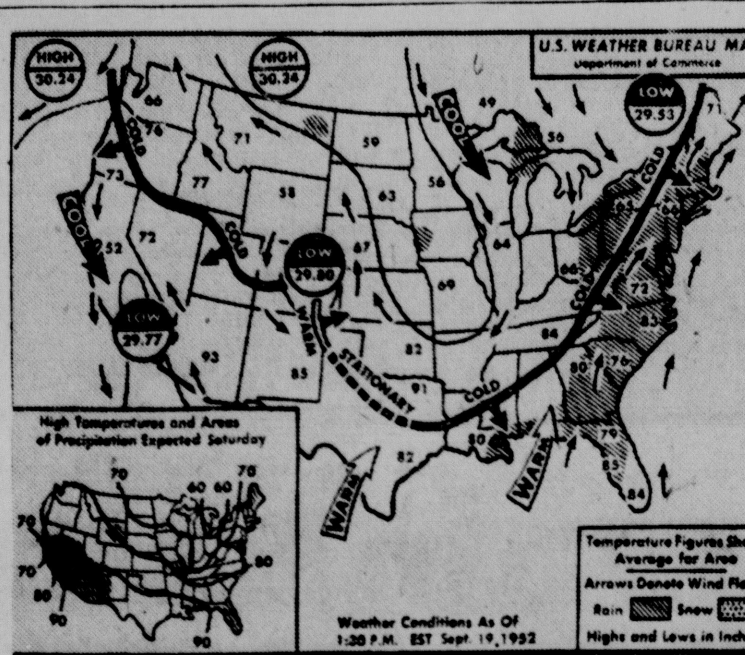

SIDNEY, Neb. (P)—Statewide attention will be focused on Sidney next Monday when the first degree murder trial of Hugh Griffith is opened in Cheyenne County District Court.

Griffith is accused of the shooting slaying of his estranged wife, Anna, 34, last June. He has pleaded innocent.

The shooting took place in the front yard of the home of Mrs. Griffith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Frerichs. No one apparently saw the actual killing, although there are several who reportedly heard the shots, including the parents of the dead woman.

The state will call "several witnesses," according to County Attorney Jack Knickely. One of the key witnesses is expected to be Mrs. Oscar Hatcher, who walked home with Mrs. Griffith the night of the slaying and had left her only a matter of seconds before the shooting occurred.

The slaying of Mrs. Griffith occurred on a Friday night, and her husband was picked up by Weld County, Colo., authorities the following Monday afternoon. Sheriff Bill Tegtmann of Weld County took Griffith into custody.

FAIR WEATHER SEEN—Weather will be generally fair over most of the country on Saturday except for showers and thundershowers in the Southwest, scattered showers in Wyoming, southeastern Missouri, Florida and extreme northern New England. It will be cool over the northern third of the nation except in northern Pacific states where unseasonably warm weather will continue. (AP Wirephoto Map Friday Night)

North Platte Cubs Are Cited

NORTH PLATTE—Two North Platte Cub Scouts, 8-year-old Floyd Bassett and 9-year-old Bill Gerle, have received national acclaim for an act of bravery which saved the life of Barbara Johnson, 11. "Certificates of Heroism" awarded by the National Court of Honor were given to the lads for the action in saving the North Platte girl after she fell through the ice of a pond. The award has been authorized for Cub Scouts only during the past year, so it is believed the North Platte boys are probably the first Nebraska Cubs to receive the citation.

Ellis Oil Well Work Is Halted

BEATRICE, Neb. (P)—The Mendenhall Drilling Company was pulling out its rig Friday after an unsuccessful quest for oil seven miles southwest of here, near Ellis.

The firm, drilling for the W&M Oil Company of Lincoln, headed by J. K. Walker, gave up after drilling to granite formations at 2,800 feet.

Two drill stem tests, a spokesman said, recovered fresh water at 2,635 and 2,755 feet. Normally at this depth, salt water is recovered.

Drilling had been under way two weeks to the day when the rig was pulled out. About 12 years ago, another well was drilled only 500 feet away, but it was a dry hole.

Walker had said that the firm had money on hand for the drilling of two test wells. It was believed that examination of information available on this test would determine whether another would be drilled.

Omaha Resumes Dumping Of Garbage

Experiments Continue On Feed Usage

OMAHA (P)—The City of Omaha Friday resumed the practice of dumping garbage into the Missouri River.

City officials said they still had received no official complaints from the state on river disposal and planned to go ahead until results of experiments were known.

Mayor Glenn Cunningham said he was holding up a little on finding landfill sites until the tests are finished. He said he has three landfill sites in mind, all near the river.

Engineers at the Omaha alcohol plant, meanwhile, were experimenting with garbage to see if a feed compound could be made.

Herbert H. Ulrich, smoke abatement engineer who has directed the dumping, said he took home a handful of garbage-made-into-feed and his English setter liked it.

In Lincoln, Secretary Paul Gilbert of the State Game Commission commented there were signs that Omaha is seeking a sound solution to its garbage problem.

As a result, he explained, he was suggesting that the national Izaak Walton League withhold plans for a legal fight on the question of dumping in the river.

William Voigt, executive director of the Izaak Walton League of America, had notified Gilbert the organization was ready "to fight it out on a national level."

"In view of evidence of a co-operative attitude on the part of Omaha, I'm asking that the league withhold any action at this time. I'm willing to give a fellow a chance when he's trying," Gilbert asserted.

Other state agencies which are watching developments at Omaha with interest are the Department of Health and the Bureau of Animal Industry.

At Nebraska City, where residents have protested the Omaha garbage dumping since they get their drinking supply from the Missouri River downstream, Mayor Victor Bremer said no formal action is contemplated against Omaha.

There has been no garbage problem in Lincoln since 1939. At that time, a system was inaugurated whereby a ditch is dug and the garbage is poured in and covered up.

Disappearance Of McCook Navy Pilot In '45 Cleared Up

McCOOK, Neb. (P)—Funeral services are being arranged for a McCook airman who disappeared while flying in a storm in Washington in December, 1945.

First Lt. Edmund Winner, a Navy pilot and son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Winner of McCook, was lost nearly seven years ago while on a flight in a fighter plane from Sand Point, Wash., to Portland, Ore.

The wreckage of the plane and Winner's body were found recently in the Cascade Mountains by a cattleman. The plane was identified through its number.

THE STAR GOES CALLING:

Havelock Y.W.C.A. Is Center Of Activity

Engagement Announced

MISS MAUREEN RAE KING

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. King of Crawford are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter, Maureen Rae, to Dale E. Graham, son of Mrs. Ruby Graham of Chappell.

No wedding date has been named.

Miss King attended Colorado Woman's College, Denver, Colo., and will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Graham attended Kearney State Teachers' College, and was graduated last June from the University of Nebraska College of Pharmacy.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hanneman will leave by plane on Tuesday for Chicago, where Mrs. Hanneman, president of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, will attend a meeting of the national P.T.A. board of managers at the Congress hotel, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mr. Hanneman will continue on to New York City where he will be one of a group of twenty-five-year employees honored by the Eastman Kodak company. He will also visit his daughter, Mrs. Edward March, and Mr. March, at the new home in Maple Shade, N. J., before returning home.

Coffee Hour Held Wednesday

The Havelock YWCA coffee hour was held at the Center on Wednesday afternoon, September 17 at 2 o'clock and members demonstrated hobbies.

Mrs. Chester Rung showed the members how to make candles while Mrs. Charles Reed gave a brief talk on African Violets. Mrs. George Maull Jr., exhibited textile paintings and Mrs. Ernest Hanson demonstrated cake making.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. O. L. Polk, Mrs. A. Rosengren, Mrs. Earl Johnson, and Mrs. Emma Price.

Engagement Announced

At a tea on Friday evening, September 12, Mrs. Mildred McDowell revealed her approaching marriage to Lawrence Bounds, which will be solemnized in October. Assisting Mrs. McDowell at the party were Miss Mary Lou Janick, Miss Ann Dippes, and Mrs. Gene Housel.

Mrs. McDowell is the daughter of Mrs. James Easton, of Wichita, Kan., and the late Mr. Easton. Mr. Bounds' mother, Mrs. James Bounds, resides in Lincoln.

Activities at the Havelock YWCA center once again are in full swing with a variety of programs, classes and social affairs designed to appeal to all age groups in the community.

Organized five years ago, the center is especially enthusiastic about the activities planned for the teen-age citizens of northeast Lincoln. Programs with a goal of service to the community as well as fun and friendship, have been scheduled for the junior high school students and the boys and girls of Northeast High School.

Once each semester, each high school girls' club goes all out to entertain the members' male escorts at a special party, and in October, the girls are the guests of honor at a candlelight dinner for which the YW women members are hostesses. In turn, the girls entertain the adults at a series of informal coffees.

A popular group at the center are the members of the Matronettes, a club for young matrons, whose programs feature all phases of handicraft and home-making. Gift-making and candle-making for all festive occasions will be studied by the group this fall.

A group which appeals to old and young alike is the Havelock Garden Club, whose energetic members stage an annual flower show in June. Lectures on gardening and landscaping are highlights of the club's monthly meetings, and at least once a year, the members make a pilgrimage to outstanding gardens within driving distance.

Planned for beginners and more advanced students, as well, the center's classes in textile painting are perennial favorites. In the picture at left are members of the advanced class, which meets at 7 o'clock, Monday evenings, at the center. Mrs. Glen Litzenberg and Mrs. W. R. Hansen. Standing is the class instructor, Mrs. Raymond Williamson.

Wedding In October

MISS CONNIE BOSWELL

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Boswell, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Connie, to Dean A. Lair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lair of Pawnee City.

The wedding will take place on Saturday evening, October 4, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First Christian church.

Miss Boswell is a graduate of the Lincoln General hospital school of nursing. Mr. Lair received his bachelor of science degree and his master's degree from the University of Nebraska where he now is working toward his Ph.D.

A Festive Week-End

NO SOONER SAID than done—Yesterday we asked for sprightly weather—it came. We'll admit that it's a bit too soon to prophesy the exact temperature for the stadium this afternoon, but we'll hazard a guess that it will be just right for a good game—That's another question—that "good" business—since the whole thing hinges on who wins—But win or lose there will be plenty of Nebraskans in town for a festive evening—

Out Hillcrest way, we understand, there will be the usual post-game dinner dance, and we learned that there will be something like 231 merry-makers—

THE HILLCREST party, by the way, has been planned by a committee which will dine together, and which includes Mr. and Mrs. Willis DeVriendt, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Wainscott, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Silverman, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Stephenson.

AT ANOTHER no host table for 12 at the Hillcrest dinner dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jones, Mr. and Mrs. James Monson and the Monsons' guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lumar Hoffman; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frappia, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Otterman, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark McCabe.

HEAR THAT Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mullowney Jr., will have a table for six, and that their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Barnoski and Mr. and Mrs. Kurth Nelson, all of Hastings.

And dining and dancing as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jorgenson will be Mr. and Mrs. James Ewing of Columbus.

OUT OF TOWN Nebraska fans are coming from here, there and everywhere it seems—Just heard that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Samuelson (Pat Raun) are coming from Waltham to be the game and week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stein.

ADDED ANOTHER pre-game party to today's calendar, too—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Meginnis have invited 20 guests for a buffet luncheon at their home preceding the game.

WE HEARD someplace or other that Mary Walt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walt, was hostess at a dinner party Friday evening at her home, in celebration of her twelfth birthday anniversary. Mary's birthday, we understand, was on Saturday, September 13, but the celebrating all took place last evening. Twelve young feminine guests were invited for the dinner and an evening at the movie.

SOMEONE told us, too, that Friday's pre-dawn hours brought Mr. and Mrs. John Lawlor home from Chicago where they had been spending several days.

OLD LINCOLN friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thornton are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Thornton back to Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, who left Lincoln several years ago to reside in Kearney, returned here last Saturday and are residing at 2102 Summer street.

TOOK a look at next week's calendar and found that the members of the Beta Theta Pi Alliance will be the guests of Mrs. Donald Stewart on Monday when she entertains the group at a 10 o'clock coffee.

PTA's Open Programs

Dr. R. L. Fredstrom was guest speaker Friday evening, at the first fall meeting of LAKEVIEW P.T.A. when he discussed the elementary program in Lincoln public schools.

A social hour was held and serving as hostesses were Mrs. Meisner, president; Mrs. Art Kulla, vice president; Mrs. Jacob Loos, secretary; and Mrs. R. Lee, treasurer.

Mrs. Duane Hughes, president, presided at the September meeting of RILEY P.T.A., last Tuesday afternoon when library reading certificates were presented to students by Mrs. Roscoe Hill.

The following committee chairmen appointments were announced: Council representatives, Mrs. J. M. Brokaw, Mrs. Virgil Anderson; membership, Mrs. Sterling Gray, Mrs. Ed Heanadus; program, Mrs. Richard Heckman; hospitality, Mrs. Leslie Hanna; finance, Mrs. Robert McNeerney; publications, Mrs. Frank Glick; garden, Mrs. Worrest; homemaking, Mrs. L. R. Buehner.

Other chairmen are: health and recreation, Mrs. Charles Schultz; civil defense, Mrs. Sophus Larsen; publicity, Mrs. Kenneth L. Cannon; library, Mrs. Hill; safety, Mrs. William Jones; character and spiritual education, Mrs. Lester Larsen; legislation, Mrs. Royce Hendrix.

NFWC District Meeting Changed

The annual fall convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs Fifth District, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, will take place at the Clark hotel in Hastings, not at Minden as previously announced.

Mrs. E. J. Huntener, president of the Fifth District, announced that the polio outbreak in Minden necessitated the change in convention plans.

Italy's Fascist Era Laws Hit Protestant Sects

Restrictions Reported By 4 Churches

ROME (AP)—Italian police restrictions based on Fascist era laws are handicapping several Protestant groups in addition to the American-led Church of Christ, Protestant spokesmen said Friday.

Baptist, Assembly of God, Seventh Day Adventist and Pentecostal churches were reported to have encountered trouble in varying degrees in Italy, which is predominately Roman Catholic. Things appeared going smoothly for others, including long-established Methodist and Episcopal churches.

Dr. Manfredi Rocci, executive secretary of the Baptist Churches in Italy, disclosed that the Baptist Church at the little town of Miglianico, on the Adriatic Coast east of Rome, was closed last month.

"There have been difficulties at some of our other churches, too," he said. "We have appealed the order closing the church at Miglianico."

The Assembly of God appealed three months ago to Italy's State Council against repeated actions which it said violated the Italian peace treaty and the Italian Constitution, guaranteeing religious freedom.

The appeal said that for four years the church, affiliated with the General Council of Assemblies of God, Springfield, Mo., had been unable to get government recognition. Such recognition was required for church services under legislation enacted when Benito Mussolini ran the government and still cited by police as authoritative.

Pastors Arrested

In the four years, the appeal said, Assembly of God churches have been closed frequently and, in 40 instances, pastors have been arrested and imprisoned or fined.

The Pentecostal church also was reported having difficulty in obtaining recognition. The Seventh Day Adventists obtained recognition in 1930, but have since had two churches closed temporarily.

The Church of Christ, which has been a target of Italian officials before, is now challenging orders which closed two of its churches and banned the use of 20 others this month on the ground they were not officially recognized.

Cline R. Paden of Brownfield, Tex., head of the Church of Christ in Italy, asked U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker Friday to intercede in behalf of freedom of religion.

GERMAN PRODUCTIVITY TEAM VISITS AGRICULTURAL CAMPUS—The University's agricultural engineering staff members and local industry representatives were hosts Friday to a nine-man study team representing West German agricultural machinery industry. W. L. Hurlbut, chairman of the ag

Visiting Germans Expect To Up Home Output

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

German farm implement manufacturers expect to more than triple during 1952 the peak pre-war output of tractors toward the effort of mechanizing small farms, held to be one of the keys to increasing production of food and fodder in the Federal Republic of Germany.

This was indicated by the nine-man group representing Germany's agricultural machinery and tractor industry, who visited the University of Nebraska's agricultural campus Friday during a six-week study tour in this country under the Mutual Security Agency.

During the day the visitors watched demonstrations and heard discussion of the Nebraska Tractor Testing program, nationally recognized by the U. S. tractor industry.

Representatives of local industry and the University's agricultural engineering staff members were assigned to each member of the group during the tour.

Speaking through an interpreter during a Friday morning press conference, Dr. F. K. Kuhn, industrial organization secretary, said Germany expects to manufacture 100,000 tractors during 1952. Output has grown from 8,000 in 1948 to 80,000 in 1951. The pre-war peak of 24,000 tractors was reached in 1939.

Conferring at times with his associates, the group's leader explained that this country's large farm machinery cannot be used on the west German farms.

Average size of German farms is 6.8 hectares, or approximately 12 acres. A large farm in Germany is 200 acres, while what is considered a small farm in America is the equivalent of a medium-size German farm.

Because of the migration of the rural population into urban areas, there is a need to "replace men by machinery, especially the one-man operated" type.

German tractor models are either 12 to 17 horsepower or 25 to 30 horsepower. The 40-50 horsepower tractor is built for export.

Asked how the Marshall Plan contributed to the recovery of German farm implement industry, the spokesman said that although the tractor industry itself did not receive direct aid, the funds made available to the German farmer did much to aid the rapid growth of the agricultural equipment industry.

In addition to Dr. Kuhn, the group included:

Erwin Albrecht, engineer of Mannheim-Nockarau; Richard H. Brunner, foreman, Neu-Ulm; Herman Fendt, director of Xaver Fendt & Co.; Otto B. Gochler, technical manager; Peter O. Heidegger, chief engineer; Helmut Edgar Nestler, partner and director of Gebrüder Welter Works; Klemens Schmidt, mechanic, Nurnberg.

Spirits High At NU Rally

By TOM BECKER
Star Sports Staff Member

The Nebraska football season got under way officially Friday night with a short but spirited rally on the steps of the Student Union.

Stanzas of "There Is No Place Like Nebraska," interrupted only by a few speeches and several yells, reigned supreme over a crowd of some 500 students.

Master-of-ceremonies, Yell-king Ira Epstein, introduced Bobby Reynolds, Carl Brase, Ed Hussman, and Coach Bill Glassford.

Reynolds started the speech-making by saying that he was glad to see so many Husker fans out for the rally. He added, "I hope to be my talking on the field tomorrow."

Guard Carl Brase was the next speaker. He was happy to be there but quickly "passed the buck" to Hussman. Hussman said he was glad to see all the rallyers and the Cornhuskers would do their best Saturday.

The final speech of the evening was made by Coach Glassford.

He stated that the boys had worked hard for three weeks and were ready for South Dakota.

Epstein led the crowd in the Nebraska Echo, Huskers Fight, Nebraska Locomotive, and N-E-B-R.

Seward Falls To Crete, 20-7

Lincoln Star Special
SEWARD—Frank Sack scored twice and led the Crete High Cardinals to a 20-7 victory over Seward here Friday night.

Sack went off left guard on the first play from scrimmage in the game and scooted 60 yards for a Crete TD.

Later in the period, Crete got the ball on its own 41 when a Crete punt was touched by a Seward player and covered by Al Kerst of the Cards.

The Cards then drove to the 3-yard line before Sack crashed off left tackle for a score and Ron Holtgrewe converted to make the count 13-0 in favor of the visitors.

Crete's Perry Hockenstad blocked a Seward punt in the third period and Wally Wild recovered for the Cards on the five to set up the last touchdown, a right end sweep by Del Riess and a 15-yard holding penalty set Crete back to the 16. Holtgrewe converted.

Jim Griffin ran 44 yards to score in the third quarter for the only home team score. Dick Cooley kicked the extra point. Line score: Crete 13 0 7 0-20; Seward 0 0 7 0-7.

Crete scoring: TD—Sack 2, Riess, PAT—Holtgrewe (placement).

Seward scoring: TD—Sack—Cooler (placement).

Others entering the Zephyr touchdown parade were Phil Everson and Bill Seymour.

Ted King Paces LHS Attack With Two Touchdowns; Barnett, Stoneman Tally

Red And Black Defenses Sag

By WAYNE PANTER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

Ted King, fleet-footed magician of the gridiron, trotted the Oval's sod in mid-season form Friday night as Lincoln High School defeated West Waterloo, 27-6, in an intersectional headliner.

The white-clad All-State wreath cake-walked his way to a pair of touchdowns on runs of 68 and 88 yards to pace the Links' offensive game.

On both occasions he threaded his way—sometimes with almost leisurely abandon, at others with jet-plane speed—through the entire lineup of West players, who clutched vainly for the apparition which suddenly was not there.

The Links scored in every quarter, knitting a tally sheet composed of King's efforts and those of Bob Barnett and Tackle Dean Stoneman.

Barnett augmented a superb game at end by gathering in a 20-yard pass from Jack Curtis on the 25, eluding a pair of would-be tacklers, and sprinting to pay dirt.

Stoneman picked up a punt blocked by End LeRoy Buthers and scampered some 15 yards across the double stripe. Buthers, who swarmed in on Warhawk backs all evening, bludgeoned Larry Woodard's boot from the 30 back where Stoneman escorted it across.

King's first marker came on the Links' second offensive play of the game. Starting from his own 32, he ran left end, cut back through a welter of clutching hands at the West 25, and showed his heels to the pack with just five minutes gone in the first quarter.

Barnett scored with 6:37 left in the second half after the Links had driven after their own 24 with Curtis, Jack Leikam and Dick McWilliams alternating in moving the ball to the Warhawk 45, from where Curtis pitched his strike.

Don Erway plunged for the conversion to make it 13-0, Links, before West could retaliate with a scoring thrust.

After receiving the kickoff, West marched in nine plays from their own 23 to Lincoln's 35, from where Gary Hayes flipped a 15-yard pass to Bob Avery, who spurred across unopposed.

"The Links' line swarmed in to block Bill Elliot's attempted placement and end West's scoring, although the visitors continued to put together an often-devastating offense during the remainder of the game.

The Links rejected 54 pards gained on a completed pass from Erway to Barnett as the half ended. Barnett was nabbed on the 20, but an offside penalty gave Lincoln the down again.

King crossed tackle to journey from his own 31 to the West 24, where he was downed.

Starting from West's 45 late in the third frame, Lincoln drove to the one-yard line, only to lose the ball on downs as the fourth heat got under way.

West then drove back all the way to Lincoln's seven, where they lost the ball on downs before a stiffening Lincoln defense.

King's 88-yard return of Woodard's punt and McWilliams' subsequent plunge for the P. A. T. ended the scoring with 1:12 left to play.

Two glaring differences set this year's Lincoln team apart from last year's club. Lincoln failed to control the ball as it had last year, and as a consequence the two teams were very nearly equal from a statistical standpoint.

Lincoln 27 0 7 7-27; Waterloo 0 0 0 0-6.

Lincoln scoring: Touchdowns—King 2, Barnett, Stoneman, PAT—McWilliams 2 (placement), Erway (placement).

Waterloo scoring: Touchdown—Avery. Officials: Referee—Wendell Groth; Umpire—Mutt Volz; Linesman—Max Barrett; Field Judge—Ed Dosek.

Friends scored on a 96-yard march in the first period, featuring a 44-yard gallop by Kenton Harris and Jim Downing's 22-yard touchdown sprint.

Costin Star Of 28-0 Triumph Over St. Mary's

Lincoln Star Special
GRAND ISLAND—The Cathedral Bluebirds, who have apparently become used to 11-man football after 12 years of the six-man game, roared to a 28-0 victory over St. Mary's of Grand Island in their second game of the season here Friday night.

The Bluebirds lost a 6-0 decision to Syracuse last week.

Denny Costin was the whole show for Cathedral, scoring three touchdowns and carrying the big ball-toting burden for Vince Aldrich's crew.

And the 'Bird defense had the Ramblers pretty well sewed up St. Mary's got no closer than the Cathedral 25, on a drive in the third quarter.

Costin scored first for the visitors on a six-yard run in the first period, and Stan Peters scored the extra point on a plunge. The TD came after a long down-field drive.

Joe Clark quarterback-sneaked to the second TD early in the second quarter on a one-yard smash. Peters skirted the end for the PAT, making the score 14-0.

Costin both set up and scored the third touchdown, which also came in the second quarter. The alert Bluebird halfback recovered a Leon Tryba fumble at mid-field, and after a drive paced Dave Kubitschek's 15-yard scamper, scored on a 10-yard plunge.

It looked as if the Ramblers might hold when a penalty cramped Cathedral's style and set the Bird's back to the 10 after advancing to the two-yard line. Cos-tin was equal to the occasion, however, and the half ended with the visitors leading, 21-0.

Costin crossed the twin stripes in the third period from 14 yards out, only to have the score nullified by a penalty. Three plays later he took a pitch-out from Clark and went nine yards to score.

Kubitschek added the point on a plunge, making the final count 28-0.

And that score might have been greater, as Bluebird TD's by Costin, Kubitschek and F. E. D. Schneider were nullified by rule infractions.

Costin stood out on defense as well as on the attack for Cathedral. Other Bluebird bulwarks were Jerome Bartek, John Fager and Peters.

For St. Mary's, it was Halfback Leon Tryba who did most of the leather-lugging. Captain Al Whyte, End Larry Murphy and Leon Olansky also starred for the losers. Line score:

Missouri Is First Test For Maryland Terrapins

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The warmup sessions are over and the muscle boys begin their tasks in earnest Saturday—the first big Saturday of the college football season.

Maryland, the second-ranked team in the land in the pre-season Associated Press poll, will be put to the test right off against the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

There's no doubt that the Terrapins, suspended from the Southern Conference for playing in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1 ought to win it, but their margin of victory will go a long way in determining whether they're actually as strong as the experts think.

Southern California and Washington State, Georgia Tech, No. 3; California, No. 8 and Texas Christian, 9—also have opening dates. California, which has been installed as the favorite to take the Pacific Coast crown, plays the College of the Pacific.

Powerful Georgia Tech, which seems to stand head and shoulders over its Southeastern Conference rivals, should have no problem with The Citadel.

North Platte Sinks Orangemen

Eugene Pittman Sparkles In Bulldog's 20-6 Victory

By JIM CLARK
Star Sports Staff Writer
BEATRICE—Riding on the elusive legs of Halfback Eugene Pittman, the North Platte Bulldogs bulldozed their way to a 20-6 triumph over the Beatrice Orangemen in an inter-sectional clash here Friday night.
All Pittman, a 160-pound scabbard, did during the course of the evening, was to return a pair of punts for 50 and 45 yards for third quarter tallies and keep the Beatrice line frustrated with his punts off tackle.
The win, the second straight of the season, moved the Bulldogs into serious contention for first place in the Class A ratings, while Beatrice, showing a much improved brand of play, went down to its second defeat.

The Orangemen had the deposters reeling in their chairs as they drove to the first touchdown, and the game only five minutes old.
Bob Bohrer, who makes passing his specialty, capped the 80-yard drive for the Orangemen by plunging over the center of the line from his quarterback position for the tally. An attempted placement by Bill O'Neill was blocked as it left the ground.
Not to be out-done, North Platte reeled off eight plays that netted 55-yards and its first tally of the game as Jack Hansen carted the leather across the doublestrips after four minutes had elapsed in the second quarter.

Still giving it an all-out try, the Orangemen's line held fast against the speedy Bulldogs until Pittman broke up the ground game with his first return of the evening.

Taking Bohrer's punt on the mid-stripe, Pittman dropped back three yards to pick up his blockers and then jaunted untouched down the left sidelines.

Hardly had the North Platte routers settled in their seats when Pittman climaxed the evening's scoring when he jaunted down the middle of the field for 45-yards with another of Bohrer's punts.

Not since 1947, when George (Bus) Knight coached a veteran Wesleyan club to a 21-7 victory, have the Plainsmen been able to compete on even terms with the Omaha team.

The Indians won 12-0 in 1948; 13-6 in 1949; 33-7 in 1950 and 25-0 against Coach Roy Robertson's game but green Methodists a year ago.

This year the Wesleyan squad, powered by a half-dozen explosive backs and anchored by a light but maneuverable line, could offer a stern test to the Cardwell-tutored aggregation.

Omaha fans will witness an offensive switch for the first time since Cardwell took over Indian coaching chores. Always an exponent of the power-laden single wing, "Cady" has switched to the "T" this year to take advantage of his light, fast backs.

The Wesleyan probable starters:

WISHING WELL By William J. Miller
Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Kansas-TCU Fray At Lawrence To Be Nation's Top Grid Conflict Today

30,000 Fans Expected, Plus Coast-To-Coast Viewers

LAWRENCE, Kan., (Lincoln Star Special)—Playing before a coast-to-coast audience of NBC television fans, TCU's defending Southwest conference kings, and Kansas, rated among the Big Seven's upper-three, collide in their most important football battle of a mushrooming intersectional series here Saturday.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m. and a crowd of close to 30,000 is expected to flock into the Jayhawkers' Memorial stadium to witness the nation's top conflict in the first big gridiron Saturday of 1952.

Reasons other than live telecasting in NBC's leadoff contest

Omaha North Clips Grand Island, 6-0

OMAHA (P)—After being turned back four times in the last half, Omaha North capitalized on the breaks Friday to hand Grand Island a 6-0 football defeat.

North drove to the 30, the 20, picked up two fumbles and still couldn't get over until 4:41 minutes of the game remained. North then got to the Grand Island 30 with a punt return and a 15-yard rushing penalty. Sam Natase passed to Lyle Odell for 13 yards and to Bob Kolb to advance to the 15. Then Ralph Bonacci bulled to the 8-yard-line, lost three yards on another try—and then Natase hit 6-foot, 5½-inch Odell on the 3-yard-line for the touchdown.

Gun Club Shoot

The Salt Valley Gun Club will sponsor a trophy and ham-bacon shoot Sunday, 1:30 p.m., at the Club grounds eight miles north of Lincoln between 14th and 27th streets.

A special trap will be operated for novices, instruction will be provided for beginners and shells will be sold on the grounds.

Pitcher, Too

WASHINGTON—During his career as a major league pitcher, Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, won 237 games, lost 140.

of its Game of the Week bill project this one as the country's top September 20 collision. Both clubs have been highly rated in pre-season polls. Dutch Meyer's Horned Frogs have been ranked as high as ninth; KU as loftily as 15th. The test also will cast some light on how each eleven is likely to fare in its respective conference title chases.

Although an upset 27-13 winner last year in Fort Worth, Kansas still is seeking its first conquest of the Purple on home soil. TCU will move in working on a four-game Lawrence victory skein begun in 1948. The teams played scoreless draws at Kansas City in the early post-war years of 1946 and 1947. TCU also won three previous decisions in Fort Worth and Kansas City.

The Jayhawks won in the air

last year on the throwing arms of quarterback Jerry Robertson and halfback Charlie Hoag. They'll mount a third flame-thrower Saturday in Gil Reich, transplanted Army signal caller who is scheduled to share the offense with Robertson.

Playing his first game in a Kansas uniform, the latter lanced the Frogs last season by pegging two touchdowns to erase a 0-7 deficit, then rambled 13 yards around right end for a third counter. Hoag fired the clincher 40 yards to right halfback Bob Brandeberry, who also is returning in the Mt. Oread secondary.

If the Kansas guns open early, this could be an artillery duel all the way. With his top fullback, Bobby Jack Floyd, lost, and Gil Bartosh, the famed Granger Ghost, hobbled by a knee injury, Meyer has stretched his bulging stable of nifty tailbacks through two positions.

Slated to open as the trigger-man in Meyer's dread spread attack is Ronald Clinksale, flying homegrown sophomore. Mal Fowler, who earned his spurs at tailback over the past two seasons, will draw the starting fullback nod. Danny Ray McKown, the celebrated Ding-Dong Danny from Dumas (Texas), who stepped in from the defensive platoon to lead the Frogs into the Cotton bowl a year ago, is the first relief call at both positions.

This means the Christians will be throwing from fullback as well as from the deep spot, thus mounting an uncommonly threatening twin-pronged situation. Although both clubs are predominantly veteran up front—TCU will start a combination of 18 let-terms in a strict platoon system, KU the same number—the Jayhawks will spring three ends who will be playing that position for the first time in a varsity game. Morris Kay and Don Bracelin will be on defense and Jerry Bogue on attack, plus five newcomers in the offensive rampart.

Even with Bud Laughlin, the explosive fullback, lost to the draft, Jayhawker Bossman J. V. Sikes maintains this may be his best team since he took over five years ago. None of the Frogs is disputing their wide selection as repeat kings in the Southwest.

Probable offensive starters: TEXAS CHRISTIAN KANSAS B. Hale (190).....LT. (177) J. Bogue B. Sikes (230).....LT. (204) J. Lundy J. Ramsay (195).....LG. (201) D. Knowles C. McCormack (240) C.....(190) W. Woody M. Teems (200).....RG. (213) G. H. Stader M. Harris (200).....RT. (223) O. Spencer T. Vaughn (190).....RE. (183) H. Patterson R. Clinksale (175) QB. (188) J. Robertson J. Ray (175).....LB. (187) C. Hoag J. Harville (200).....RH. (184) R. B. Seberry M. Fowler (200).....PB. (209) G. Foss Officials: Louis House (William Jewell), referee; Charlie Triss (SMU), umpire; Beanie Beckerman (Iowa), head linesman; Johnny Morrow (Texas A & M), field judge.
